DETAILED ACTION

Rejections and/or objections not reiterated from previous office actions are hereby withdrawn. The following rejections and/or objections are either reiterated or newly applied. They constitute the complete set presently being applied to the instant application.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-17 and 35-38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US 2003/0144252.

The reference discloses a pharmaceutical composition for use in the synergistic treatment or prophylaxis of prostate cancer which comprises 20mg to 1g EGFR TKI [0037] (e.g., EKB-569 [0025]) in conjunction or admixture with about 5 to about 98% pharmaceutically-acceptable diluents or carriers [0037] (e.g., sodium carbonate, calcium carbonate, lactose, etc. [0034]). See [0029]. The composition may be in orally suitable form, including tablet formulations [0039]. Tablet formulations may be uncoated or coated either to modify their disintegration and the subsequent absorption of the active ingredient within the gastrointestinal tract, or to improve their stability and/or appearance, in either case using conventional coating agents and procedures well known in the art (thus fairly suggesting various conventional aspects of the instant claims, e.g., the enteric coatings of claim 14).

Although the reference is silent about the pH of the composition, since the amount of the composition can comprise from about 5% to about 98% of excipient - calcium carbonate, for example - then the composition would necessarily have a pH of at least 8. Furthermore, the instant specification teaches that a concentration of about 0.1% to about 50% of the pharmaceutically acceptable basic excipients capable of bringing the composition to at least a pH of 8. Table 5, at pg. 16 of the instant specification, in particular, teaches that 5% calcium carbonate in the composition produces a tablet with a pH of 9.24.

The reference is not anticipatory insofar as one must "pick and choose" from different list. That being said, it would have been obvious in a self-evident manner to have selected EKB-569 from one list and sodium carbonate or calcium carbonate from another, motivated by the unambiguous disclosure of each individually, and consistent with the basic principle of patent prosecution that a reference should be considered as expansively as is reasonable in determining the full scope of the contents within its four corners.

Conclusion

No claims are allowed.
